

Backcountry Huts - List and fees

NORTH ISLAND

General information

Huts are great places to stay in the New Zealand backcountry. The Department of Conservation (DOC) manages over 950 huts throughout the country. Huts come in all shapes and sizes but have been broadly classified into four categories which reflect the level of services and facilities provided.

Some hut services and facilities are seasonal, so plan ahead, check the details of facilities offered and be sure that you have the right equipment with you.

SERVICES & FACILITIES

Great Walk Hut (GW)

These huts have bunks or sleeping platforms with mattresses, toilets, water supply, hand washing facilities and heating with fuel available. There may be cooking facilities with fuel (no cooking utensils) and a warden. Note: Most Great Walk Huts require booking. Maximum stay periods apply.

Serviced Hut (SV) / Serviced Alpine Hut (SVA)

Serviced huts offer bunks or sleeping platforms with mattresses, water supply, toilets and hand washing.

Note: Serviced Alpine huts are only found in the South Island alpine areas. They have higher fees (usually payable at the nearest visitor centre) to assist with the higher costs of maintaining these huts.

Standard Hut (ST)

Standard huts have bunks or sleeping platforms, mattresses, a toilet and water supply. They may have heating.

Basic Hut/ Bivvy (B): Free of charge

These huts offer very basic shelter with limited facilities and services.

Backcountry Campsites (camping associated with huts)

Campsites with very basic facilities are maintained near many huts. Hut facilities may be used.

Information about hut facilities and services

- Bunks in bigger huts are often sleeping platforms that allow a width of 75 centimetres per person.
- Gas cookers and fuel are usually not provided. During cooking open a window or door to allow dangerous carbon monoxide fumes to escape.
- Water is often supplied from rain water or stream filled tanks. The water borne parasite giardia may be present. Boil water for 3 minutes before drinking if you are unsure of the quality.
- Enter your trip details in each intentions (hut) book as this information can assist in search and rescue.
- Candle holders are provided at most huts where lighting is not provided.
- To help hut keep huts clean and tidy, a broom, brush and pan are provided – please use them.
- GW Huts often have wardens in peak season to check GW Tickets, provide track updates, weather forecasts (where they have a radio) and safety information. They may provide natural, cultural and historic interpretation about the park. Rangers also visit Serviced and Standard huts on a regular basis.
- Some huts are managed for their historic values, with original fabric, design and character still intact. Interpretation about historic values may be provided. Some services may differ from other huts.

Backcountry huts do not have

- Any food, cooking utensils, pots, pans – bring your own
- Sheets or blankets – take a sleeping bag
- Rubbish collection – take all your rubbish with you
- Showers
- Toilet paper – take your own

Club huts

There are recreation club huts throughout New Zealand. This list includes club huts open to the public and notes specific access or fee requirements where they vary from the national system. Club contacts: Federated Mountain Club (FMC): www.fmc.org.nz New Zealand Alpine Club (NZAC): www.alpineclub.org.nz

Be well prepared for the backcountry

Plan ahead! Think before your trip—about weather, equipment and safety. Collect a copy of the DOC brochure Planning a trip in the backcountry? or the Mountain Safety Council brochures Going Bush?, Survival and Hypothermia from DOC visitor centres or www.doc.govt.nz and learn about how to plan and prepare for a safe and enjoyable trip.

Follow the hut users code

Help look after huts by following the hut users code:

- Keep huts clean, tidy – as you would like to find them
- Take care using wood burners. Only use dead wood, keep fire contained, never leave it unattended – it can burn the hut down. Make sure fire is extinguished before leaving; put water on ashes.
- Share huts with others. Be considerate. Make room for late comers and keep quiet if others are sleeping.
- Carry it in, carry it out. Take all your rubbish with you. Pick up rubbish you come across.
- Always pay hut fees.
- Before leaving close doors and windows securely.
- Tramping clubs and other groups do regular hut maintenance work. Think about volunteering some of your time and effort. It's a great way to meet people and you're sure to have fun!

Using this list

Details of hut facilities are provided in the list below. Note that conditions, facilities and services change.

Always check the latest notices at the nearest DOC visitor centre before you venture out and be prepared for all conditions. A list of DOC visitor centres is available on the DOC website www.doc.govt.nz

Grid references are provided (where information is available) based on the 1:50,000 topographic map series Topo50; available at DOC visitor centres and map and outdoors shops.
