

Abel Tasman Coast Track

trip information sheet

ABEL TASMAN NATIONAL PARK

SAFETY

Tidal crossings

There is one area on the track that is only passable near low tide: Awaroa Inlet can only be crossed within 1 hr 30 min before and 2 hr after low tide. It is dangerous to cross outside of these times. The estuaries of Torrent Bay and Bark Bay can be crossed near low tide but also have all-tide tracks around them. At Goat Bay and Anapai, the track follows the top of the beach. Anapai is passable at all times. At Goat Bay a short section of the beach may be impassable during spring high tides.

Protect yourself

Take insect repellent, sunscreen and a sunhat, plus any medication you need. Wasps are common on the track; if you're allergic to wasp stings, take antihistamines with you. Please note: cellphone reception is poor within the park.

LOW TIDE TIMES

NOTE: The Abel Tasman Foreshore Scenic Reserve covers the foreshore (between mean high water mark and mean low water spring) from Mārahau to Wainui, and includes the foreshore around the islands of the national park.

Torrent Bay Village Campsite is not recommended for kayakers because access by water is only possible at high tide. Kayaking is not recommended north of Onetahuti Bay due to the remote and exposed coastline.

FACILITIES

- There are no cooking facilities.
- Filtered water sites are at: Anchorage, Bark Bay, Awaroa, Whariwharangi huts/campsites and Tōtaranui. You should be prepared to boil, treat or filter drinking water if the DOC water filter systems are not working correctly. Water at other DOC sites or streams in the park cannot be guaranteed safe to drink. There is a risk of giardia. We recommend that you treat water before using it.
- Toilets are available at all huts, campsites and car parks, and at Goat Bay, Pound Gully, Medlands and Stilwell Bay.
- Rubbish must be taken out with you; bins are not present anywhere in the park.

Fires are only permitted in the formal fireplaces at Anchorage, Bark Bay, Waiharakeke, Tōtaranui, Mutton Cove, Whariwharangi Bay. Please note: in dry conditions DOC may impose a total fire ban.

PLACES TO STAY

- Camping is only permitted in designated campsites. Hammocks are not permitted.
- Great Walk huts and campsites must be booked in advance all year round. Bookings can be made online at www.doc.govt.nz or contact DOC Nelson Marlborough Bookings Helpdesk +64 3 546 8210 for assistance. Please note additional fees apply for telephone bookings. Make sure you have a hut/campsite ticket before you start your trip and take the ticket with you.

OTHER INFORMATION

Parking

DOC provides a car park at Mārahau, Tōtaranui, Wainui and Awaroa road ends. Secure parking can be arranged at various businesses in Mārahau.

Water taxis

A water taxi service is provided by private companies. They do not go north of Tōtaranui. Torrent Bay is drop-off only, this service is between 9.00 am and 12 noon. Awaroa water taxi drop-off/pick-up is on the beach in front of Awaroa Lodge, a 30 min walk from Awaroa Hut at low tide. Refer to your water taxi provider for their pick-up/drop-off locations and timetable.

Seal colonies

There are seal colonies on Pinnacle and Tonga Islands, and at Separation Point. Do not go within 20 m of a seal when it is on land.

Mountain biking

From 1 May to 30 September, mountain bikers can ride from Tōtaranui to Gibbs Hill and on to Wainui Bay. Mountain biking is not permitted on the Coast Track.

For more information see the Abel Tasman Coast Track Guide. Produced by the Department of Conservation. April 2019.
