MILFORD TRACK

Duration: 4 days
Distance: 53.5 km (one way)

Great Walks season:
late October – 30 April
(last departure 28 April)
MILFORD TRACK

Experience the ‘finest walk in the world’ as you retrace the steps of early explorers on the world-renowned Milford Track.

Take a journey along valleys carved by glaciers, wander through ancient rainforests and admire cascading waterfalls. You’ll follow a historic route through Fiordland National Park, part of Te Wahipounamu – South West New Zealand World Heritage Area, before reaching your final destination, the spectacular Milford Sound/Piopiotahi.

The Milford Track can only be walked in one direction. The track is well marked and signposted, but some sections are steep and rough and the track may be muddy and slippery. Poor weather conditions can make this walk challenging, even in the Great Walks season.

This brochure describes a 4-day hike for independent, non-guided walkers from the head of Lake Te Anau to Sandfly Point in Milford Sound/Piopiotahi during the Great Walks season (late October – 30 April, last departure 28 April).

Duration: 4 days
Distance: 53.5 km (one way)

Great Walks season:
late October – 30 April
(last departure 28 April)

Outside the Great Walks season (May to October) walking conditions are more hazardous – see the safety information.

Day 1: Glade Wharf to Clinton Hut

1 hour – 1 hour 30 minutes, 5 km

After a boat cruise from Te Anau Downs (1 hour 15 minutes), take a leisurely walk through beautiful beech forest along the banks of the Clinton River to Clinton Hut, where all hikers spend the first night. There is an impressive glow-worm grotto near the hut and if you’re lucky, you might hear kiwi calling after dark.

Day 2: Clinton Hut to Mintaro Hut

6 hours, 17.5 km

A gradual climb follows the Clinton River to its source, Lake Mintaro, at the base of the renowned Mackinnon Pass. Past Hirere Falls you will get your first view of Mackinnon Pass and the impressive Pompolona ice field. You'll be dwarfed by the sheer scale of the rock walls towering above on either side as you walk up the Clinton valley, and you’ll pass through changing vegetation as you climb higher towards Mintaro Hut.

Day 3: Mintaro Hut to Dumpling Hut
6–7 hours, 13 km
Climb to Mackinnon Pass and the memorial to explorer Quintin McKinnon, with exceptional views of Lake Mintaro and the Clinton Canyon along the way. The memorial is a great place to take in the awe-inspiring panoramas, before reaching the highest point of the track and Mackinnon Pass Shelter (1154 metres). From here, you’ll drop steadily through an attractive alpine garden to the valley floor, passing several waterfalls along the Roaring Burn River before arriving at Quintin Shelter. On the way to Dumpling Hut, if the weather is clear, take a moment to admire Sutherland Falls in the distance. From Quintin Shelter you can take a side trip to visit the falls up close.

Day 4: Dumpling Hut to Sandfly Point
5 hours 30 minutes – 6 hours, 18 km
From Dumpling Hut, you’ll follow the Arthur River to the historic Boatshed. Further along the track, you reach the dramatic Mackay Falls and intriguing Bell Rock. Admire the man-made rock cuttings alongside the Arthur River and Lake Ada, before spending the last 3 km on a smooth, wide track constructed by a prison labour gang between 1890 and 1892. A short boat ride from Sandfly Point will take you to your journey’s end, with world-famous views of Milford Sound/Piopiotahi along the way.
Getting there

The Milford Track is accessed by boat from Te Anau Downs, 27 km from Te Anau on SH94.

- The track starts at Glade Wharf at the head of Lake Te Anau. Take a bus or private transport to Te Anau Downs (30 minutes), then a boat trip to the head of Lake Te Anau (1 hour 15 minutes).
- The track finishes at Sandfly Point. Take a boat trip (20 minutes) to Milford Sound/Piopiotahi, where there are bus services back to Te Anau and on to Queenstown.

During the Great Walks season (late October – 30 April, last departure 28 April), there are regular transport services to and from the track, which must be booked in advance – you can use the link in your hut booking confirmation to book your transport.

During the Great Walks season (late October – 30 April, last departure 28 April) to avoid disappointment. Camping is not permitted on the Milford Track.

Places to stay

DOC operates 3 huts on the Milford Track. These must be booked well in advance during the Great Walks season (late October – 30 April, last departure 28 April) to avoid disappointment. Camping is not permitted on the Milford Track.

Milford Track Great Walk huts

During the Great Walks season the huts have bunks, mattresses, heating, toilets, basic cooking facilities, solar-powered lighting and cold running water.

A DOC ranger is in residence. The huts do not provide cooking utensils or showers. Outside the Great Walks season facilities are greatly reduced and there are no DOC rangers. Booking is not required, huts are first come, first served and fees are reduced. See the DOC website for details.
Highlights

Conservation story

1. You may hear the northern Fiordland tokoeka (southern brown kiwi) along the Milford Track. These kiwi are in decline due to habitat loss, and predation. DOC and Air New Zealand are working together to control predators in both the Clinton and Arthur valleys. There is now a trapping network covering over 9,330 hectares alongside the Milford Track area. With DOC and Air New Zealand working alongside iwi and other partners, bird numbers in both the Clinton and Arthur valleys are increasing.

2. Take your camera to capture the stunning panoramas from Mackinnon Pass across ancient valleys carved by glaciers.

3. Fiordland’s many streams, rivers and waterfalls are especially spectacular after rainfall. Take a side trip from Quintin Shelter to see Sutherland Falls, which drop 580 metres (1904 feet) from Lake Quill.

4. In the alpine section of the Milford Track you will be in for a special treat between November and February. Flowering plants such as the Mount Cook buttercup, mountain daisy and the dainty gentian almost steal the show from the expansive vistas.

5. Enjoy the emerald waters of the Clinton River. Even when it is metres deep, the crystal-clear water allows you to see every stone on the bottom and admire trout or native longfin eel/tuna cruising the deep pools.
Go to www.doc.govt.nz/milfordtrack for detailed safety and planning information.

This track is not recommended for children under the age of 10.

Parts of the Milford Track are exposed, steep, slippery, rough and muddy. Day four is an 18-km walk to meet the early afternoon boat. This track is not suitable for all walkers.

Fiordland National Park is in an area with high rainfall and changeable weather. Cold temperatures, snow, strong winds and heavy rain can happen at any time of the year.

Walkers should come well equipped and prepared for all weather conditions. Check weather.niwa.co.nz/parks for the most up-to-date forecast.

The Milford Track has complex avalanche terrain, and the risk of avalanche can extend into summer. During the Great Walks season, DOC manages this risk to a low level. Walkers may be flown (at their cost) over dangerous sections.

Check www.doc.govt.nz/milfordtrack or contact the DOC Visitor Centre in Te Anau for track conditions and weather warnings before your walk.

Your safety is your responsibility.

You are strongly recommended NOT to attempt this track between early May and late October (outside the Great Walks season).

The winter environment in Fiordland National Park is very cold and wet, with ice, snow, avalanches and short daylight hours. DOC is unable to manage any hazards outside the Great Walks season. Bridges are removed, as floods and avalanches occur on these tracks during winter.

To attempt the track in winter conditions, you need to be very experienced in backcountry winter navigation, have river crossing expertise and appropriate alpine skills and equipment. Hut facilities are greatly reduced – with no cooking gas, limited water and no hut wardens or emergency hut radios.

For more information, see ‘Outside the Great Walks season’ at www.doc.govt.nz/milfordtrack.
